

HIGH-ENERGY MAGNETIC MONOPOLE SEQUESTERED BY US GOVERNMENT

by James D. Fauble © 2004

A Veil of Suppression

This world is a dangerous and difficult place to navigate through and still hope to find a safe and happy place. Because I have known of too many others who have already died in this common quest of ours, I can no longer allow myself the luxury of remaining silent on this issue.

I'm fully aware that I am putting my very life in mortal danger by revealing what I do in this message, but I refuse to fade away quietly without at least offering this information to fellow comrades who are active in this quest for new energy solutions.

I believe we must view those who have continued to hinder all true progress and murder our friends, family members and colleagues to be our true enemies! I also believe that it has now come to the point where it is now crucial to our very existence that the tyranny end now before it is allowed to progress to the next level!

Since the most recent murder of one of our most beloved and respected comrades, Dr Eugene Mallove, on 14 May 2004, and also due to my own current situation, I have decided it is due time that I disclose information that I have been forced to keep to myself for nearly 30 years when I first received direct threats to my life and the lives of my loved ones. Being that I love my children and have taken these threats to harm my family very seriously, I hope it will be understood why I have waited so long to speak out on this subject.

It should be quite obvious by now to anyone who has done their homework that there have been and still remain powers which have been put in place solely for the purpose of hindering any real knowledge and/or progress in the areas of new energy technologies, and all for reasons of their personal greed, power and control.

I do not want to have to be the one to burst people's bubbles, but I believe very strongly that there are those within this new energy movement who are not who they've made themselves out to be; I have seen very good evidence to believe this.

Also, I have met with a number of retired and/or resigned CIA operatives at their requests, who have been aware of and sympathetic to my situation and also have been threatened by their co-workers and by others in charge and behind this shadowy veil of secrecy. Some of these people said to me that they have suffered the loss of several of their own family members who were murdered because of their beliefs that free-energy technologies must be allowed to be disclosed to the public and because they refused to be silent on the issue.

I was told that if I were ever to mention anything to anyone about anything of what had occurred, I would be made to disappear permanently and they might just do the same to my loved ones for good measure.

You all need to know that the thugs behind these operations would like nothing more than to witness the demise of anyone and everyone actively promoting new energy technologies, although they usually reserve such drastic measures only for those who actually possess genuine technologies which would threaten their power structure.

I would also like to make it clear that there are dozens of people who know of what I have personally gone through and have known me for many, many years. A good percentage of these people can and will vouch for my character and also for the truth of these statements. Some have even been witness to the same sort of US government/military harassment that I have been subjected to. I would also like to add that I am willing to swear under oath and before Congress as to the truth and accuracy of these claims and statements. However, only God's protection can guarantee that I would be there to do so, if that time should ever come.

High-Energy Magnetic Monopole Materials: The Evidence

I have decided that I, for one, will no longer live under the fear of these people, and so I am now offering to my fellow comrades news of the existence of certain materials that are thought impossible to exist, but which in fact do exist. The materials to which I am referring are high-energy magnetic monopole materials with resistive forces of at least 10 to 20 tons per square metre x 1/4-inch thickness.

Please consider closely what I am about to tell you. I have seen the physical and documented proof and also the formulas to prove this. There was no mistake! I had to read through all of the information a half-dozen times before I could believe this myself, but I now know without any shadow of doubt whatsoever that these are the facts.

Thirty years ago, in the late spring of 1979, I delivered this information in person to the Energy Commissioner of the State of Minnesota. The Commissioner at that time held a PhD in physics, was a nuclear engineer and was the head of the Department of Energy in Minnesota, at least until mid-1979.

He did not believe these claims either, at first, until I presented the documentation and formulas which had all been formally published in great detail by Polydorf. He, too, had to read through this information several times just to make sure there was no mistake as to what he was seeing.

Again, there was no mistake. Also, there were witnesses present who will testify to the truth and accuracy of these events. Along with these publications was the name and the location of the company that manufactured these materials at that time.

High-Torque Applications

I had also presented to the Commissioner my design for a new device which would measure approximately the same size as a standard-size can of oil and which, according to our calculations, would deliver a minimum torque ratio of between 1,500 and 2,000 ft lbs.

The Commissioner agreed that, indeed, according to everything he was looking at and taking in mind the current laws of physics, there was no way that this device could not work.

Top-Secret Materials

After reporting to the Commissioner and showing him the proof of the existence of these materials, the Commissioner promptly called this company on the telephone to place an order for the materials needed to build this device. At first the foreman of the manufacturing plant adamantly denied that such materials existed—except perhaps on the Moon or Mars, as he jokingly put it.

After the Commissioner clarified to the foreman as to whom he was speaking and threatened to file a lawsuit against both him and his company from the State of Minnesota, the foreman immediately apologised and admitted that they did indeed make those materials there and agreed to place the requested order. The foreman, however, wanted to know how the Commissioner had acquired such information, because apparently it was supposed to be classified under the highest top-secret classification. The Commissioner quickly told the foreman my name and where I was employed, which at that time was at the RAND Corporation at a certain Department of Defense headquarters location.

My Life Is Threatened

By that time, I had begun to realise that I had unknowingly stumbled into a very dangerous area. It was later that I learned I had apparently checked out a book in which a temp worker, who had been called to fill in for the usual full-time librarian, had accidentally misplaced this highly sensitive information and, instead of placing it in the proper vault, had filed it in the unrestricted area of the company's research library—where I happened to find it while researching high-energy magnetic materials for my invention.

The very next morning following that meeting with the Energy Commissioner, I was visited by several armed military police who were waiting for me as I reported for work. As my boss stood directly behind these MPs, direct threats were made to my life and also the lives of my loved ones. I was told that if I were ever to mention anything to anyone about anything of what had occurred, I would be made to disappear permanently and they might just do the same to my loved ones for good measure. Those are the exact words they used.

From that point on, I was never able to contact the Commissioner again, and it appears that he had been replaced by a female counterpart. My phones and my family's and friends' phones were also tapped from that point on and for quite some time thereafter.

Also, the very next day, a very large white unmarked military helicopter began to make regular daily visits to my home at exactly 12.00 noon every day and would hover no more than 50 to 75 feet above my house. Side doors would open and various IF and UV cameras, etc. were wheeled up to openly take pictures and to intimidate myself, my friends and my neighbours. This continued for several months on end. My friends and neighbours were afraid to associate with me in any way from that time on. So, in case you're wondering, yes, there are many witnesses!

Often there would be men stationed on my street with telephoto lenses aimed at my home and family members as we would come and go. I have also had my home broken into on numerous occasions; the only things which were ever taken were my inventions and associated documents.

Since then I have watched as many others announced various inventions which have been claimed to provide free, clean energy, while my life has basically been systematically destroyed.

In fact, just a couple of months after my meeting with the Minnesota State Energy Commission, a good friend handed me the Spring 1980 issue of Science and Mechanics

Illustrated, on the front cover of which was pictured Mr Howard Johnson's permanent magnet motor/generator. The design was nearly identical to one of mine. Coincidence? Only God knows for sure.

Let's Develop This Technology

To make a long story short, I have lost my wife and my home (which I had just finished paying the mortgage on), all of my possessions and my health. I now have absolutely no fear whatsoever of dying, and I no longer care much about what the government/military clones want to threaten me with anymore.

So I have chosen to disclose this information, which I believe could help in the development of permanent magnet motor/generator technologies as well as other technologies.

It's now close to 30 years since that original incident, and I'm very sure that improvements have since been made to those materials that were so important to be kept secret that people were considered of lesser value.

I have since attempted to find information about these materials on the Internet, but, as to be expected, the closest thing resembling such materials are referred to as "high-energy Dirac monopoles". Claims that there has been ongoing work into research in this area are purely bogus and obviously designed to discourage the curious. Contrary to those claims, these materials have actually been in existence for at least 30 years, despite the denials of the patent offices and manufacturers.

NEWSCIENCE NEWSCIENCE NEWSCIENCE

The company that was manufacturing them at the time of my meeting with the Energy Commissioner is Permag Central Corp., located in Illinois. You may have heard of them; they are one of the world's largest manufacturers of high-energy permanent magnets. The name of the foreman was Jim Foy; he has long since left the company for reasons which would be perfectly understandable to me.

Permag Central Corp. will undoubtedly deny that they have ever manufactured these materials and will also deny that they even know of the existence of such materials—but they do know about them, and at least they did make them there in 1979.

Also, I now believe I may have figured out how to produce such materials, or at least how the process might be done. It is not my wish to place anyone in danger by offering this information, and I would not normally give out anything of this sensitive nature, but I believe that it has now become necessary for someone who is still living to disclose this information for the benefit of the many.

These materials are undoubtedly used for military applications, and [the government/military clones] have been more than prepared to murder anyone in order to keep them a secret. If, however, a private group were to "rediscover" the process of making such materials, I believe this information could then become public knowledge and thereby open up numerous possibilities within the scientific and technological communities.

I would also like to add that I have seen evidence that some of these high-energy monopole materials may possess properties of invisibility. I understand how this might sound, but try looking up "high-energy Dirac monopoles". I've done some Google searches on the Internet and have found some information on Dirac monopole materials that confirms this possibility.

Nevertheless, it is necessary that others know of the existence of these materials because of the many implications for advancements in new energy technologies. Also, there are likely to be other applications associated with these types of materials that could greatly benefit mankind.

It's kind of ironic, after all the Top Secret and Above Top Secret technologies I've seen and the projects I've been involved with, that this would be the thing they would worry about the most. I guess money really means a lot more than anything else to these people.

Anyway, I also believe that this nonsense has gone on far too long and that it is time for all of us to move ahead swiftly before it is too late for all of mankind. My initial intention was to give something to my fellow man and at the same time stick it to "The Man", if you will.

It should be obvious why I've chosen to remain anonymous for so long. I have simply come to the conclusion that if it is necessary that I have to sacrifice the remainder of my life for the betterment of mankind, then it is well worth the price—and, in fact, would even be welcome at this point. At least I will have played a part in some small way, and something of my life might have been salvaged to help someone. So I encourage you to share this information with anyone who will listen.

Dr Eugene Mallove was one of the best and brightest in his field and he was loved by many. I believe that, at the least, we owe it to Eugene to continue the fight for the full disclosure of these technologies—hard enough as it is to get any alternative technologies developed in today's world.

Also, it would be wise to remember that any one of you who is currently active in the pursuit of free energy or new energy technologies and is on the right track could be in danger of being the next target. But our best defence is in our numbers, and this is now the one thing in our favour. There are now far too many of us for them to even hope to be able to deal with by making us disappear.

I will continue to help others as best I can in their projects, as long as I am still able to talk or type on this keyboard. There are many of you out there now who are on the right track, and my prayers are with you all—regardless of how you are received by others within the free energy network. A good number of you are far brighter than I was when I started my research, and so I am confident, if time will still allow, that something will be brought to the market within a couple of years.

I don't know what, if any, results may occur by getting this off my chest, but I believe I must do this at this time for many reasons—some will be obvious, others I do not want to discuss at this point.

God bless you and keep you all.

James D. Fauble

References

- Magnetic Motors (index of designs and claims): <http://freeenergy.greaterthings.com/Directory/MagneticMotors/>
- Free Energy Technologies Directory: <http://freeenergy.greaterthings.com/>
- Eugene Mallove Tribute Page: <http://www.pureenergysystems.com/obituaries/2004/EugeneMallove/>
- Permag Central Corp., 1213 Estes Avenue, Elk Grove Village IL 60007, USA

Editor's Note:

To contact James D. Fauble, email him at JDEnterprizes@mailblocks.com. His story was originally posted at the webpage <http://pesn.com/2004/06/05/HighEnergyMagneticMonopole/>. It was also posted by PR Web on 8 June 2004 at <http://www.emediawire.com/releases/2004/6/prweb131743.php>.

For further information, visit the Pure Energy Systems (PES) website at <http://pureenergysystems.com/>; also, go to the link to the Ion Source Beam Projector open source project on the lower half of the PES main page.

"Where do you switch it on?"